SCU1TLEBUTT... and other stuff found in the media

Interim Maricopa County Attorney, Rick Romley, combat vet, also aspiring to his second occupation of that office if he wins the upcoming election, has come out in opposition to SB 1070. Hmm! Romley's opponent, Bill Montgomery, West Point grad, also a combat vet, supports the popular Illegal Immigration bill. Which'll it be???

Thanks for your service to our country, both of you.

Tohono O'odham "Nation"

Once known as the Papago Reservation, lapping over into Mexico, the "nation" is claiming rights to build a casino in Glendale on acreage they got in a land deal with the US. How is it the Indian reservations now call themselves nations? Does anyone think the US Congress in their "infinite wisdom" would create or even have the authority to create a nation within a nation? Of course not! It's those damn lawyers who started calling a rez a nation and the know-nothing media goes along with the misnomer. So, if they are nations why don't we require them to have a visa when they leave the rez to enter our country? And how is it they sit in our state legislature to pass laws we must comply with but have no force on the various rez's in the state? Was it not the Father of Our Country who said, "We must avoid foreign entanglements."? If a rez is a nation then we are constantly entangled in our own jock straps with the various rez's plus the legitimate countries with all of their intrigues and machinations. One must never disobey one's father.

Strangle Rangle

Now that we have him on the hook let's not let him get away. D'ya hear that, congress? The House ethics committee will bring charges against the bandido, Charlie Rangle, for failing to report assets and income for a half million dollars, among other charges, and has been under investigation since 2008. "I look forward to airing this thing." choked the grinning Rangle. You betcha, Red Ryder, we all do. It was nice of Princess Pelosi to have the investigation delayed and the report held up until you finished your work as chairman of the Way & Means Committee in raising our taxes.
